Treasure Hunt

Isn't it a shame when you can't make the most of the locations of your conference? Our treasure hunt can change that with its two main goals:

Sightseeing: Use your destination to create memories, have a shared experience and discover a new place with your work colleagues.

Team building: Team members will get to know each other better, make group decisions and form strategies. In short, learn to work as a team and have some fun at the same time.

The objective of the treasure hunt is to be the first team to open the treasure chest which is well-secured with different padlocks, requiring both keys and combinations. To succeed, the combinations must be discovered and the keys must be found by completing various missions and working as a team. Observation questions, photo missions, puzzles and team challenges all help to lead the team closer to their goal.

TEAM LEARNING: plan and prioritize, learn to be aware of all the team's strengths, get to know other members of the team and form a strategy as a group.

“Congratulations on preparing and completing this activity to such a high level without forgetting a friendly atmosphere. We particularly appreciated the end session which drew parallels between the activity and ‘everyday’ work”.
